

Your Mobile Phone as a Credit Card

Listening ANSWERS

Listen to the audio and answer the questions.

1. What is the report about?
Using your mobile phone as a credit card.
2. Which major card company has Kyocera Wireless teamed up with?
Visa
3. How does Kyocera's Jon Chier say you use the system?
"basically you just wave the handset, equipped with what's called a near field communications chip, in front of a contactless payment terminal"
4. How many locations does Kyocera's partner company have?
13,000
30,000
3,000
5. Who did NTTDoCoMo team up with to offer a similar service?
McDonalds
6. What did the users get for using this system instead of a traditional payment method?
special promotions
7. What can you do with a similar system in London?
mobile phones can be used by drivers to pay for parking.
8. Which other countries towns are testing similar systems?
Amsterdam, France and Finland.

© 1996 by Randy Glasbergen.
E-mail: randyg@norwich.net

"As promised, you'll have free use of the company golf course during your lunch hour. Just double-click on the icon labeled 'GOLF'."